Hailing from the Pacific Northwest, singer-songwriter Carl Wirkkala brings to life tales of ghost towns, trains, and lonesome drifters through his music.

The core of Wirkkala's music is based around the art of songwriting. His music tips a hat to the stylings of Johnny Cash, Waylon Jennings and Bob Dylan. He has been writing and performing for 20 years and has eight studio albums with another on the way featuring his new band, The Whistle Punks.

In 2010, Carl recorded an album, "1974" in Nashville with members of Waylon Jennings' band.
